Information for Parents

If you have any issues/concerns regarding our school and/or our staff, could you please contact us in the first instance rather than voicing your opinions via social media? We are here to listen to you.

In order to ensure our Safeguarding procedures are really rigorous and robust so that all our pupils are safe we need to slightly change some of our procedures. Some of our parents escort their pupils to their classroom in a morning and at the end of the school day. We would love this to continue, but to fully conform to safeguarding we will need to get a member of staff, most likely from the class team, to escort you whilst on the school premises.

We thank you for your understanding on this issue as I know all our priorities are to keep our children safe.

Calling all parents and carers, do you struggle in the kitchen, can't yet scramble an egg?

We have just what you need!

If you'd like to be taught how to make a delicious and nutritious evening meal for your family, and then get to take it home with you.

Keep Wednesday 5th July free 3.30-5pm.

Based at school in the secondary food room.

More information to follow later..... Ms Jilli Guy

TIP OF THE WEEK Help your child with imaginative tasks

Some children find imaginative tasks really challenging. They find it difficult to think about things that are not real. Using pictures and photographs to support their thinking and give them ideas can reduce their anxiety about imaginative tasks.

HAZEL Class

Hazel have enjoyed learning all about nature in preparation for our class assembly. We have explored forest school looking for our favourite aspects of nature and we are really excited to perform it for you in assembly!

Art News

Pupils from Middle and Upper school have recently taken part in an Artist in residence project. They have produced some amazing work with Tanya Raabe - Webber, a disabled artist who specialises in portraits. The project was funded by NADWAS and the portraits are currently on display as part of the counties Voices and Visions project at Worcester Cathedral. The exhibition runs until the 11th June.

Kennedy Class

This week Kennedy Class visited the farm, we had lots of fun and tried out lots of new things, collecting eggs, mucking out the pigs, petting rabbits and even rolling in the hay!!
